DevOpsDays Houston 2020
Health and Safety Update

March 9, 2020

Hello all! With the global concerns around the COVID-19 coronavirus, we wanted to update all our attendees, sponsors, speakers, etc. on the plans for DevOpsDays Houston in April.

We're still planning to hold the event as scheduled, but will make a final decision on Monday, March 16, 2020.

Right now, we believe the risk to be limited as we're a smaller event, most of our attendees are local, and many of our speakers are from Texas. We plan to take additional steps to ensure a healthy environment.

Of course, we will continue to monitor the situation going forward and update this statement as needed.
